

Individual Expertise. Team Excellence.

Our strength lies in the synergy that unites us all.

At Meyer Capel, we work as a team, sharing ideas, opinions, advice—all directed at a single goal: providing the best possible legal counsel for our clients.

Whether a legal problem involves personal matters such as wills, trusts, adoptions and real estate, or business concerns such as incorporations, contracts, and labor law, there is at least one attorney on our staff with the special skill and knowledge required to understand the legal ramifications involved.

While each of our attorneys practices in an area of concentration, our real strength is our ability to exercise teamwork. The fact that one member of the firm may call upon another for assistance and advice on a particular legal matter broadens our capacity to address a variety of client concerns.

Our commitment to excellence is not, of course, limited to the attorney level. It is an integral part of everything we do.

Each year, for example, more than 100 law students from the University of Illinois seek clerkships with us. Only 10 are selected. Choices are based on the applicant's ability to provide broad-based research assistance of the type that can be matched only by firms in the largest metropolitan areas. The same care is taken in selecting every employee. From attorney to law clerk, secretary to courier, each staff member shares our firm's dedication to quality and professionalism.

Diversification. Teamwork. Dedication to excellence and personal service. These are the qualities that have helped Meyer Capel grow. These are the qualities that we, as a firm, pledge to maintain.
